DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

Claim 13 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter. Claim 13 is directed to a computer program product with instructions.... . However the computer program product is not stored in a computer readable storage medium . Therefore the program product is not embodied in a manner so as to be executable. Therefore claim 13 is directed toward non-statutory subject matter. The claim as amended contains the language operable in computer system, causing said computer system to execute... However the computer program product which, as claimed, is merely instructions where the instructions if not stored or embodied in or on a computer readable storage medium that can store the instructions of the program, then the instructions are not accessible to the computer for use or execution. The specification does not provide any explanation on the scope of meaning of the claimed program product. Therefore even if the instructions could provide the claimed operations when executed they cannot be executed if they are not in a form necessary to be accessed by the computer. Consequently as stated above claim 13 is directed toward software per se and directed toward non-statutory subject matter.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 1-12 are allowed.

The change in scope of the amended claims has necessitated a new search.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments, see amendment , filed 12/1/08, with respect to the 35 U.S.C. 102 and 35 U.S.C. 103 rejections respectively of claims 1-13 have been fully considered and are persuasive. The 35 U.S.C 102 rejections of claims 1-5,8-13 and the 35 U.S.C. 103 rejections of claims 6-7 have been withdrawn.

In the remarks, the applicant argues that with regard to the rejection of claim 13 as being directed toward non-statutory subject matter, the applicant has amended claim 13 to recite that the instructions are operable in a computer system which performs the claimed steps. The Examiner contends that the claim even with this amendment do not provide the instructions in a form that is accessible to the computer and therefore not in a form so as to be executable by the computer and is directed to software per se as discussed in the outstanding rejection above.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
